

Deb Bixler, Resides in York, PA

Deb Bixler retired from the corporate world in 1999 to enjoy life as an entrepreneur. In the first 9 months in the direct sales industry she built a sales team and cash flow which provided her with an income capable of replacing her corporate business salary of $80,000 per year. Deb achieved the top honors offered in her company in personal sales every year for 7 years in a row and earned the President's Club 5 of those 7 years. This prestigious award goes to only the top 20 of the 67,000 sales representatives in the company.

A life long study of the art, science and passion of eating good-for-you-food has given Deb a vast knowledge of food and healthy living choices. She is a trained chef with an associate's degree from the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, NY and has an associate's degree in hotel/restauran management. Deb knows more about food than anyone you have ever met. With a 30 year career in the hospitality field, she has a broad experience in the service industry.

Deb specializes in health and prosperity education.

As an entrepreneurial educator, Deb teaches systems and best business practices that when incorporated into any business will result in consistent cash flow. Her specific area of expertise is in network marketing and direct sales education. At sales training meetings Deb teaches systems or best business practices that when applied to any business will result successes. Her direct sales presentations focus on professionalism, the power of positive thought and actions, how to create cash flow and success strategies which result successes in home businesses and sales fields.

On the health side Deb takes her 30 years of healthy living and a passion for food and teaches living skills to improve the quality of life for families through taking advantage of the American freedom of choice. Deb teaches eating and living skills to create solutions for average people in the hectic 21st century. Her South Central PA cooking show Now We're Cooking presents fun-fast-healthy entertainment and recipes advocating skill power as opposed to will power to achieve your health goals. As a school assembly presenter and adult education in a wide variety of venues she has made a difference in the lives of thousands for better family health.

As speaker advocating health and prosperity life styles Deb's mission is to improve the quality of family life now and for future generations through food choices, wealth creation, and environmental awareness.